he Class of 1988. It was a long and hard struggle, but together we pulled through. Throughout the years we encountered many obstacles. We shared tears of joy for graduation, but tears of sadness at the loss of two close classmates. Together we made it and we're proud. It took each and every one of the special people to make our class what it is. And now, as we move on into the world, we will always treasure those special times that were created at Fountain Central High School. "Thinking always ahead, thinking always of trying to do more, brings a state of mind in which nothing seems impossible."

A Special Time A Special Place

FRIENDS ARE SPECIAL

hat would we do without our friends? It takes someone special to be called a true friend. Friendship means sharing thoughts, problems, and adventures. Throughout our school days we have either gained companions or we have lost companions. But, no matter what the situation we always appreciated their presence. Friends should be acknowledged, whether it be for helping someone with homework or just giving someone a smile to brighten their day. Friends are too often taken advantage of and not even a simple thank you or hello is put forth. The little things in life are usually the ones that mean the most, and friends are a big part of life. They always have been and they always will be. Imagine what it would be like not having someone to tell your problems to or to share your joys with. You would be alone and unhappy. The love that two friends share can be astounding. Friends are special because they give relief, joy, hope, and love. They are there to help weather the storm, and no matter the conditions, they will always go out of their way to protect one another.

he student council worked especially hard to pull off one of the best organized homecomings Fountain Central has seen. In a closely fought and hard won race, the class of 1990 captured the spirit award for Homecoming 1987. The opening ceremonies for the football game added an impressive touch to the week's events. The Royal Mustang Brigade pleased the crowd when it performed its contest show. Balloons were released as the band played the school song. The coronation ceremonies at the halftime of the North Vermillion Football game highlighted a special week for F.C. students. Julie Overpeck was chosen by the students of Fountain Central as the 1987 Homecoming Queen. The Mustangs looked strong in the first half of the game, but faltered during the second half when the state ranked Falcons came on tough and out-scored us 38 to 6. Senior, Ben Nine scored the Mustang touchdown. Homecoming was enjoyed by all.

chool is more than classes and books. It's also a place where we meet our friends and experience some of the happier moments of daily life. Some of the moments we remember best are the ones outside our classrooms. Sometimes we laugh and sometimes we even cry, but we know at school we will find our friends who we can lean on. Before school every morning groups of people can be found discussing what homework they need to finish and what was the score of the Big Ten game the night before. Girls discuss guys and guys discuss girls. Then the bell rings and everyone starts counting the hours until lunch when once again we can catch up on the really important matters in our life. Sometimes the most important news of the day is who is wearing whose class ring. It is also at this time that some of the most important plans for the weekend are made. After lunch many people stroll into the gym where vicious games of ping-pong are played and competitive matches of basketball are enacted. Yes, school is more than classes and books; it's a place for everything.

Upper L. Just for fun, J. Massey and M. Hatch model their parents' senior cords.

BRIGADE . . .

he Royal Mustang Brigade had a very successful and rewarding marching season in 1987. The band performed their Broadway based show at five contests. The first contest was at Indiana State University. This was the first time they had ever performed the whole show so early in the year. Next they traveled to Indianapolis to perform at Busch Stadium. They recorded their first Division 1 of the year. The band began their journey to state at District contest at Lawrence Central High School. They received a Division 1 which enabled them to compete at Regional contest. The year came to a sudden end when they received a heart-breaking Division II at Regional contest.

CONCERT BAND

The 1987-1988 High School Concert Band was the largest since the arrival of the present director of bands, Mr. Francis E. Vile. The band has grown from 55 members in the 1984-85 year to 81 members. After the marching season winds down, the high school band changes its pace from an exciting array of Broadway tunes to classical melodies for the upcoming concert season. Many members of the high school band performed February 6 at the ISSMA Solo/Ensemble contest. Jim Hershberger, Mary Moody, Arty Zachary, Ryan Beisecker, Cash Canfield, Bob Daniels, Lisa Hershberger, and Judy Roberts advanced to state contests, February 27.

Band Officers: B. Daniels, treasurer; Lisa Harshbarger, secretary; R. Beisecker, V-president; Eric Inman, senior delegate; Dan Foley, president.

R. Lighty is the contestant on Win, Lose or Draw.

Senior Messages

Dear Stac,

As we look back on the past 18 years, we share many happy and fun memories. The closeness we share as mother and daughter, I hope will never change. As you look to the future, always keep your smile.

Love,
Mom

Heather Booe,

Congratulations and thanks for all the happiness you have brought to our lives. We are so proud of all your accomplishments and encourage you to believe in what's right for you.

Love,
Dad, Mom and Lance

Tracey Bennett,

You have been a special joy to us from the day you were born. Your gentle, loving nature and good character will see you through. May God grant you faith, hope, and above all, love!

Dad, Mom and Marsha

Brady Branam,

This is the year of all years you'll remember a long time. I know you'll always have the ability to take charge of your life and pursue your dreams. Good Luck. I'm proud of you.

Mom

Dear Chuck,

Your brothers and I celebrate with great love and pride another milestone in your life. I'm confident that in the years ahead, your special qualities and talents will enrich the lives of many.

With love,
Mom

Joe Buker,

We are proud of you Joe, hope you will always have a big smile for everyone as you always have had. Continue to serve God whatever you do.

Our love,
Dad and Mom

Gretchen Craft,

Work Hard, Enjoy Life, Help Others, Value Friends, Expand Horizons, Be Positive, Avoid Anger, Have Faith.

Loving Parents Looking On

David Neil Curtis,

Congratulations! We are so thankful and proud of you. Thank you for the joy you have given us. Always remember yesterday's school days, be grateful for today's opportunities, and hold fast to your dreams of tomorrow.

Love,
Dad and Mom

Julie Davenport,

You are such a special daughter, always full of life and vitality. May you always trust in God, set your goals high and follow after your dreams. May you always know we love you very much.

Dad and Mom

Tim DePugh,

Congratulations, you have advanced from "OLE MILWALKEE" to "OGRE". No matter what they call you, you're our son, we love you and trust you'll make the right decisions in life.

Mom, Dad, and Brothers

Charmin Dice,

Dreams and wishes can come true. Yours are just beginning. As Dad would say "Go for it in a big way".

Love,
Mom

Kendal Dillon,

Congratulations on all your accomplishments. We are very proud of you. We wish you happiness throughout your life. Remember we love you very much.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Michelle Evans,

That day in May 18 years ago your mother and I knew we had been given something special, and now as another day in May appears we hope all your days are as special as the ones you have given us.

Good luck my little P.P.

Love,
Dad and Mom

Dear Raquel,

You are a very special blessing from God. We are so proud to have shared these years with you. We wish for you a special future, always seeking God's guidance and His promises.

Love,
Larry and Mom

Marcie Garrigus,

You've struggled long and hard to get where you are. You've finally made our dream come true. Good luck in the future.

Dad and Mom

Rick Harrison

We congratulate you on reaching this goal that you have been dreaming of for years. May your future be blessed and your pathway smooth.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Kelly Harwood,

You have been such a wonderful blessing to us. Always put God first and continue to be the sweet, loving person that you are, and you can achieve whatever you want in life.

We love you,
Mom, Dad and Jude

Mary (Pooh),

Through all the ups and downs in our lives, you have been there for me. I will always be here for you. You are a very special lady. I am so proud of you.

Love,
Mom

Monica L. Hicks,

Congratulations! I'm very proud of you. You have worked so hard and I hope that everything goes well for you. I just want to wish you the very best in life.

With love,
Mom

Dear Becki,

The past eighteen years have been delightful. You have achieved a lot in this short period of time. Keep up the good work. We love you and wish you the very best in the future.

Mom and Dad

Tamara Leitzel,

You always find joy in simple things. You have an eye for beauty, a tongue for truth, a mind that reasons, a sympathy that understands. You are our special gift of life.

We love you,
Dad and Mom

Rick,

You have made us so proud. Always live your life for the Lord and you will feel well and do well.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Our Dearest Ryan,

What a joy you have been to our lives. With God's help and guidance, you can succeed in anything you set out to do. Good Luck and we love you very much.

Mom, Dad, Deanna, &
Shaun

Tracey Sue Lyons,

In counting the gifts God gave you, one thing is certain, one thing is true. You gave Him back, without a doubt, your very best.

Thanks for the memories.

Love,
Dad

Trena Ann Lyons,

Your spirit and your smile have brought you to this day. You are a very special daughter with a kind and loving way. May all your dreams come true.

We love you!
Dad

R.D. Manning,

Words cannot express how magnificent you are to us. We have always told you that no one is perfect, but that you should try to be the very best you can in whatever endeavor attempted.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Dearest Daughter,

Make the most of what you have and are. Do the thing near at hand and great things will come to your hand to be done. We are always here for you.

Mom and Vic

Lynn Minick,

We are very proud of you. I know you will succeed in the career you choose, because you know how to reach the goal you set for yourself. Remember, we love you and will always be here for you. God bless you.

Love you,
Mom and Dad

Kristin Mitchell,

Love of family, love of swimming, love of life have played an important role in your competitive world. You have faced pressure, pain, and glory through them. We love you and thank you for all the enjoyable years.

Love,
Dad and Mom

Staci Mitchell,

You're a very special person. We are very proud of the way you have lived by the rules and kept your standards high. Whatever path you choose, always keep God a part of your life.

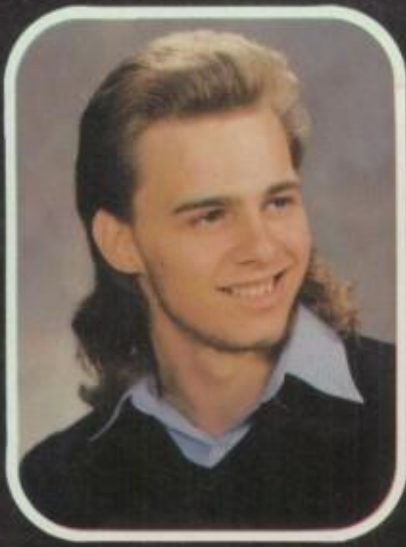

Love,
Mom and Tom

Dear Ann,

It's hard to believe you are graduating. It seems just like yesterday you started school. Good luck as you go off to college. We are very proud of you and remember you can be anything you want to have in life all you have to do is try.

Love always,
Mom and Dad

Top — J. Davenport knows school days are almost over.
Middle — Remember
this day! Jim Rose is smiling.
Right — C. Dice, M.
Hicks and D.
Maltsberger figure it out.

Senioritis is a disease that has many symptoms and during the year we all contacted it. Some of us had more severe cases than others. A simple case of senioritis could last for a few days, but the chronic cases lasted all year. At first a person gets hit with the "apathy" virus. Then after the "It just doesn't matter attitude" persists for so long a rebellious spirit creeps its way into the system. Of course "senioritis" is normal. It it weren't we would never grow up and want to leave home. There comes a day when a person knows he is too old for high school and high school ways. On that day we begin to enter into adulthood and our old ways of doing things become silly and immature. We begin to realize that high school gave us more than just an education. We discover that it also helped us to gain stronger values about the things we believe in and a more positive attitude towards life.

Dear Julie,

Our love for you is only overpassed by God who loves all mankind. Stay close to Him for all the future. Congratulations to you and your classmates.

Dad and Mom

Christi Perry,

Congratulations! We love you very much and wish you much success and happiness in the future.

Dad and Mom

Butch Pollock,

Your graduation is one of our life's dreams. You have made the past eighteen years great ones. We love you very much, and hope you and your future prosper. We'll always be here for you.

Mom, Dad, and Brad

Jury B. Reed, Jr.

I am very proud to have you for a son and I know your dad would be proud of you too. Do the best you can in life, that's all I ask.

Love you,
Mom

Judith Anna Roberts,

We trust that your foundation for being, faith in God, prayer, and the principles by which you live shall always reflect the name we chose for you. Judith — which means 'Praise the Lord'.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Terry Runion,

We are proud of your success in 4-H, drama, and band. We wish you much success in the future. May God bless you richly.

Mom and Dad

Wendy K. Smith,

Congratulations. We are very proud of you. Best wishes in everything you do in the future. May you reach for every goal you strive for.

We love you,
Dad and Shirley

Lisa Steffy,

We are proud of you for the great young lady you have become. Continue to stand up for the values you believe in. May you always be happy and successful in the future.

We love you,
Mom, Dad, and Michael

Jody Summers,

We are so very proud of you and what you have achieved. Never lose your faith in God and yourself. Whatever you do in the future, do it with pride and determination.

We love you,
Mom and Dad

Mark Summers,

Congratulations on your graduation. We are very proud of you accomplishments. Soon you will be faced with many decisions, but we know that you have the abilities to make sound decisions. Always remember the REAL purpose of life.

Love always,
Mom and Dad

Neil Ray Summers,

Congratulations Son, we are proud of you and your achievements. Just remember to have faith in yourself and whatever your goal, you'll make it. Always remember those who have helped you.

May God bless you,
Dad and Mom

Dawn (Shelly) Wagner,

Your childhood years will be cherished. Memories only you could have created. It's time to start new memories, those of adulthood. May the upcoming years be as full as the last years have been.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Ferry Dean Walters,

You've been a joy and much company to us. Stay your own self as you tread life's road. Keep God in your heart.

Love,
Nan and Pap

Dear Missy,

It's been a long, tough road, but it's been worth it. We've had our ups and downs, but you made it. I'm proud of you. Good luck in your life ahead.

Love,
Mom

Devon Winters,

Congratulations Son! Always know that the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ will continue to bless you in your walk through this life.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Sean Zachery,

We've seen you grow by your mistakes and profit by your accomplishments, a good lesson for life. Continue to please God and others before yourself and you'll be blessed. Thanks for making our job easy the last 18 years.

Love you,
Mom and Dad

FACULTY LEADS THE WAY

Imagine a school without teachers. At first the idea sounds too good to be true, but it wouldn't take long for the grim reality of such a situation to set in.

We may not always like teachers, but we do need them. Actually, we don't want to be stupid and uneducated, but few of us would readily accept the challenge of educating ourselves. Who would sit down and work algebra problems without someone telling us we had to? Besides, what would happen when we came upon something we didn't understand. Teachers can help us out when we get stuck and don't understand what to do next. We can benefit from what they already know.

Teachers are people who have been here before. They have helped students very much like us who have found themselves in similar situations. Sometimes we have to ask for their help, but the really good ones seem to sense when they can help us with a problem.

S TUDENT

Being a member of Student Council this year was different than any other year in the past. For the first time, the council met in the evenings and not during the school day. Also, this year the council had a new sponsor. Dr. Williams decided to take over the role himself. The Student Council consists of the officers from each class plus five other students selected to represent their class and speak on behalf of the student body. At the first meeting, each class formed into a group and set what they thought should be the goals of the Student Council. These ideas were then combined and the plans for the upcoming year were formed. The Student Council was much more involved in student activities this year than in years past. It took over the customary roles of arranging the football and basketball homecomings and also planning the spirit week. It also spent much time beginning new traditions at F.C. such as the Spirit Plaque for the most spirited class and the Spirit Letter for the most spirited teacher. These new traditions were a success and the Student Council celebrated by having a meeting/pizza party at the Blue and Gold pizza palace. All of the goals that were set at the first meeting had been met. The Student Council also dis discussed the forming of a scholarship for anyone in high school that meets the basic requirements. The Student Council also sent flowers to faculty members in times of illness. The president of the Student Council was Sean Zachery. Vice president was Travis Richey. This year's secretary was Heather Booe. Treasurer of the Student Council was Rachelle Rodgers. Senior members were Judy Roberts, Julie Overpeck, Kendal Dillon, Nikki Dalle, Tim DePugh, and Kristin Mitchell. Junior members were Stephanie Newsum, Jennifer Lewis, Kerrie Meuser, Mary Moody, Tim Ratcliff, and Toni Wilson. Representing the sophomore class were Kim Dalle, Yessi Carter, Laura Colson, Stephanie Rice, Steve Carver, Coy Overpeck, Duane Robertson, Crystal Shoaf, and Amy Ward. The freshmen members were Scott Millikan, C.J. Liggett, Christy Swingle, Josh Hering, Kenny Adkins, Chad Carlson, Jenny Goings, Andy Haas, and Jon Rose. Student Council can only be as strong as the people involved. Because of the strength of this year's council members, a great deal has been accomplished.

Being a leader means having the courage to put your ideas before the group and the initiative to carry them through.

Some students come to school every day and when the 3:27 bell sounds they are finished with any thought of school for the remainder of the day. Many people participate in sports and many people also participate in clubs.

It takes a person with a special character to become involved in the club program. Since clubs are no longer allowed to meet during the school day, anyone who wants to become a member has to come back at night or stay after school in order to participate. For many people who don't drive, this takes a special effort on the part of both the student and the parents.

Clubs must fulfill a definite need for students, because the club system is still flourishing. The numbers of students involved is not as great as it was in the "get out of class" system, but this year a new club was even formed.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes reinstated a chapter that was once in existence several years ago. The club emphasizes the importance of religion in the life of a student athlete.

Working together under pressure takes a special teamwork and a special people.

DEADLINES

People who work in journalism can be considered special. They learn early that the only way to be successful is to work together and to willingly take on responsibility. It is difficult to be a "star" on a yearbook or a newspaper staff, because everyone is expected to do glowing work.

We learn to respect the people we work with and we learn to appreciate the different contributions that everyone has to make. Some people are creative and some people are organized. Every once in a while a person comes along who is both. This year many of those people found their way to the journalism room and spent a year learning and doing tasks they never thought they would have been expected to do.

Working for Mrs. York was second nature for the old staff members, but for some of the new staff members this was a challenging prospect. It seemed she always wanted perfection and was not satisfied unless she got it. There always seemed to be those days when she would ask you to do two or three things at once. That was bad enough, but then she would tell you that you had thirty minutes to get everything done because we were going to press.

We could always tell when deadlines were approaching because a feeling of frenzy filled the room. "Can't you fold papers any faster than that," would be a typical comment coming from our sponsor's mouth. But as the pressure behind the deadline rose, so did the grand feeling of teamwork as the journalism staff, with some encouragement, worked hard to meet the challenge.

A person trying to capture a few minutes to catch up on homework was fair game. Whenever you thought you just might have some free time, that was when you found a new project put in front of you.

Yet with all of the clockwork precision and tediousness, enjoyment of the job still exists. At times I wonder if this is how Hemingway felt during his days of working on a newspaper staff?

Teamwork is the name of the game. Kerrie and Travis work together with the ads for yearbook and Dan and Judy team up to write a story about band. Above, Kendal and Amy, co-editors of the yearbook accept an award. Opposite page: Nikki and Chuck sell carnations together while Kristin discovers sometimes, if you want something done, you just have to do it yourself.

SOUNDING GOOD

The 1987-88 school year has been very successful for the music department. The marching band once again advanced to Regionals; the jazz ensemble received a Division I at contest, and three high school choir members participated at the vocal solo/ensemble contest.

and sales of the Yugo. The foundation of the music department begins in the elementary as the tiny toddlers participate in the winter and spring programs. In sixth grade many of these amateur singers decide to join band.

The seventh and eighth grade bands practice and practice so that some day they might perform in the high school band. The jr. high bands performed three concerts throughout the school year.

The Royal Mustang Brigade competed at five marching band contests during the fall. For the fourth straight year they advanced to Regional competition only to be stopped short of their goal of advancing to the Hoosier Dome for State Marching Band Contest. The high school concert band also performed in three concerts from the end of marching band to the end of school.

The jazz ensemble, for the second consecutive year, received a first division at contest held at DePauw University in Greencastle. They also performed at the Veedersburg library and at the Honors Banquet held at the Beef House. The jazz ensemble also made an appearance at the elementary, playing for all the elementary students. They also performed at four concerts.

At Christmas time the choirs received a new choir director. Miss Smith took over the choirs. The jr. high choirs performed at four concerts throughout the year. The show choir improved much throughout the year and received a good rating at contest also held at Greencastle. The choirs also performed at Choral Festival which was held at Turkey Run High School.

CONFIDENCE

"What! She expects me to give a speech in front of a camera with the entire class watching. I'll just die! I'll never be able to do it. I guess I'll just have to be a sophomore forever."

"If this teacher thinks I can write poetry, then she had better think again."

When you accomplish something you never thought you could, your confidence soars.

---

"We will never win this game tonight. There is simply no way we can do it."

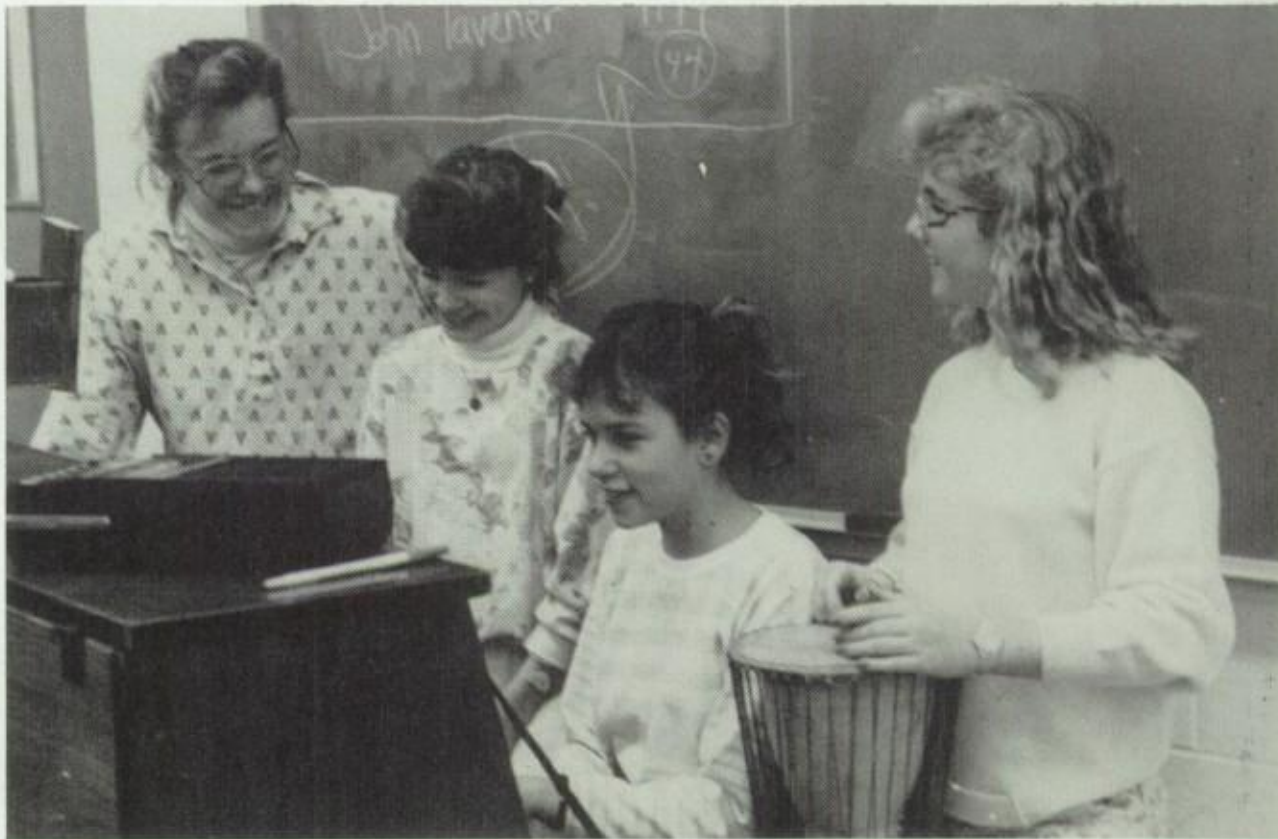

Countless students have experienced these same thoughts, but most of them find out they really can do these items and live to tell about it. Gradually after overcoming fear and severe cases of the nerves students find out they can do far more than they ever dreamed possible. It's only by doing things we never thought we could that we build confidence.

Many a student has made that long trip to the nurse's office in order to get out of doing an assignment they just couldn't face. So often, the fear of doing something is far worse than the event itself.

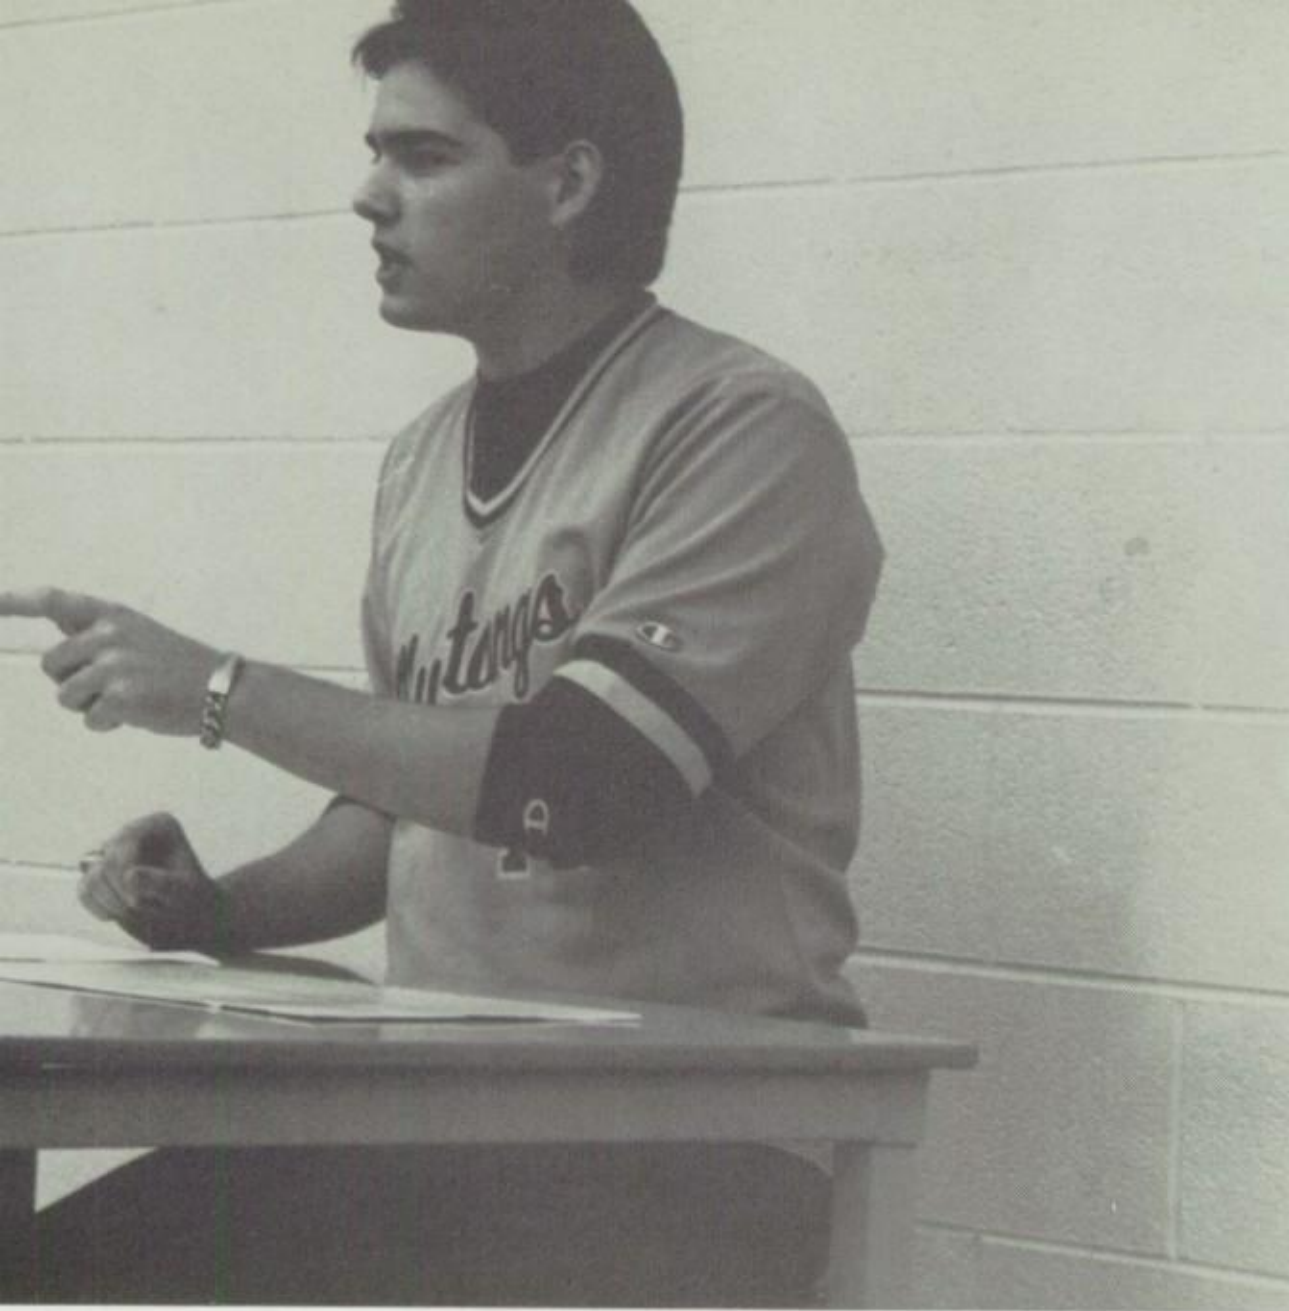

Sometimes when we work in groups we discover we have the courage to do projects we would never have been brave enough to do alone. Gradually throughout our years at Fountain Central our confidence level soars.

The human mind is a wonderful thing. The limits to which it can be stretched are amazing. By getting involved in many activities we can really test what we can do. The encouragement we get from our friends is often just what we need to pull us through a rough situation, but when we get through it — oh how great we feel!

When Mike gets that look on his face we all need to be careful.

Flowers and balloons say someone cares. Ericka and Jeff are about to make someone happy.

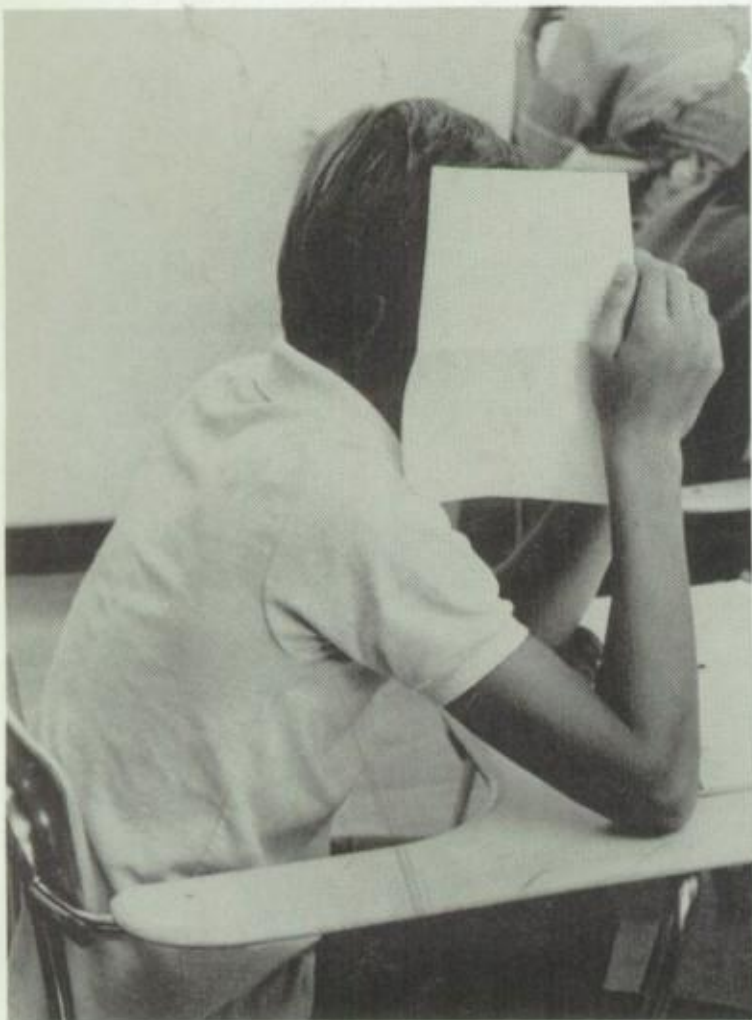

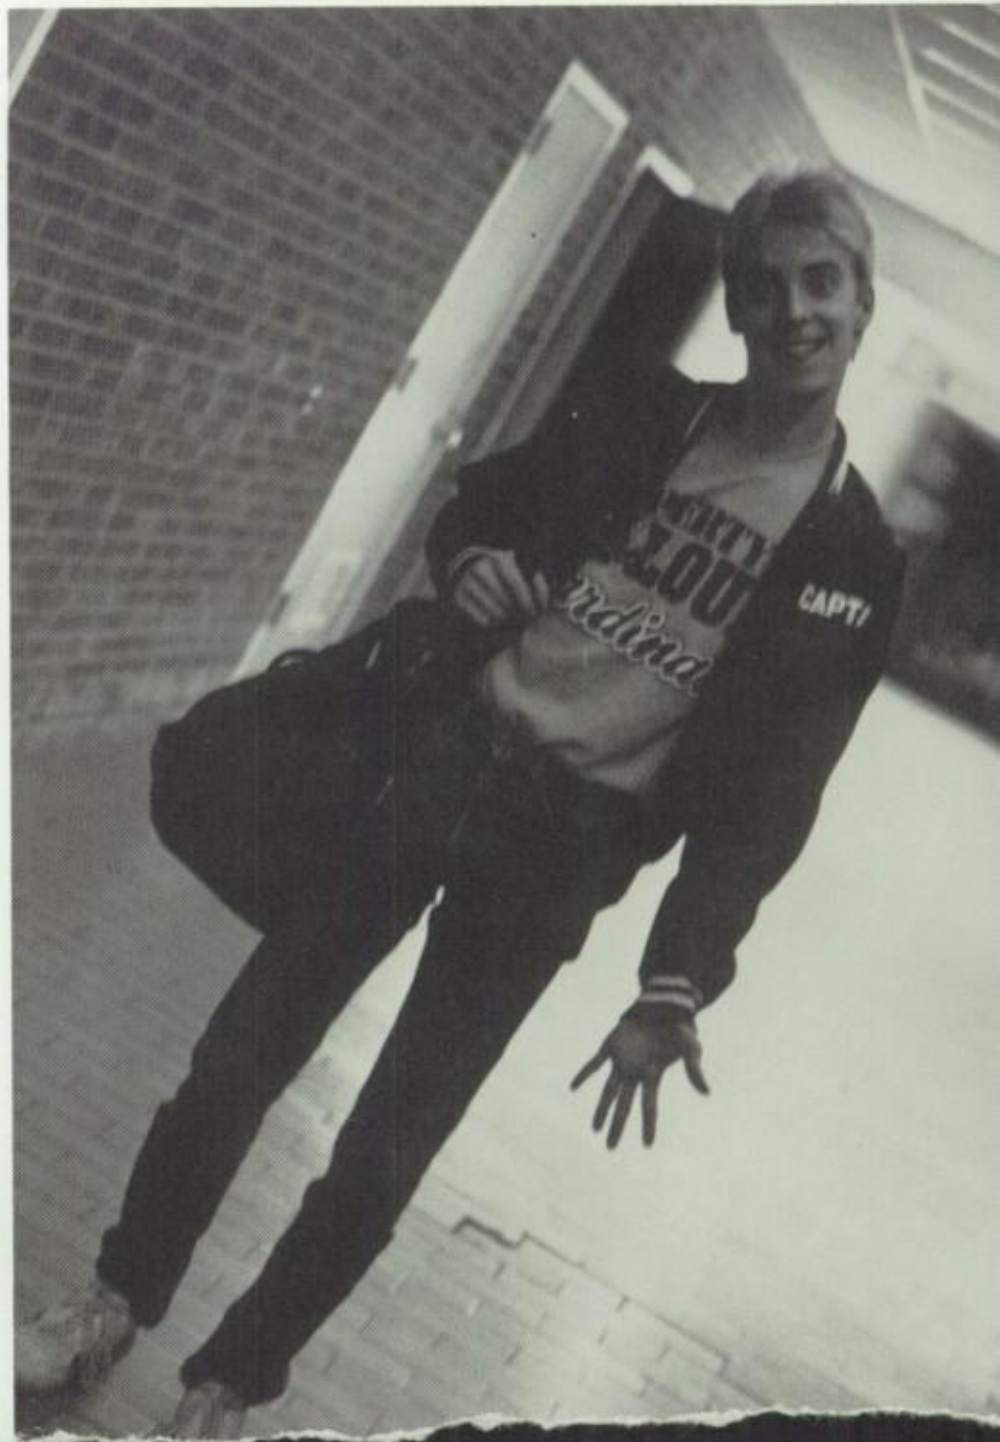

Ryan Snider doesn't seem to lack any confidence in getting his message across. Perhaps some day he will be a big time sports' announcer.

Opp. page — N. Booe pierces M. Abernathy's ear.

Ryan Lindley can swim through the water with the fastest of ease. Now we discover he can also walk at a forty-five degree angle.

When Ericka Whittington and Sue Hagar do library research, they really get down to business.

Ryan Beisecker always likes to maintain that mysterious, elusive image.

DOUBLE TAKE

"What did you do at school today?"

"Nothing."

"Nothing??? You spent an entire day at school and you didn't do anything?"

That particular conversation takes place in homes all across the country every evening. It seems that students don't find math assignments and vocabulary worksheets exciting enough to remember. The things that students remember most are the unusual ones. Special projects just seem to capture a special place in our memories.

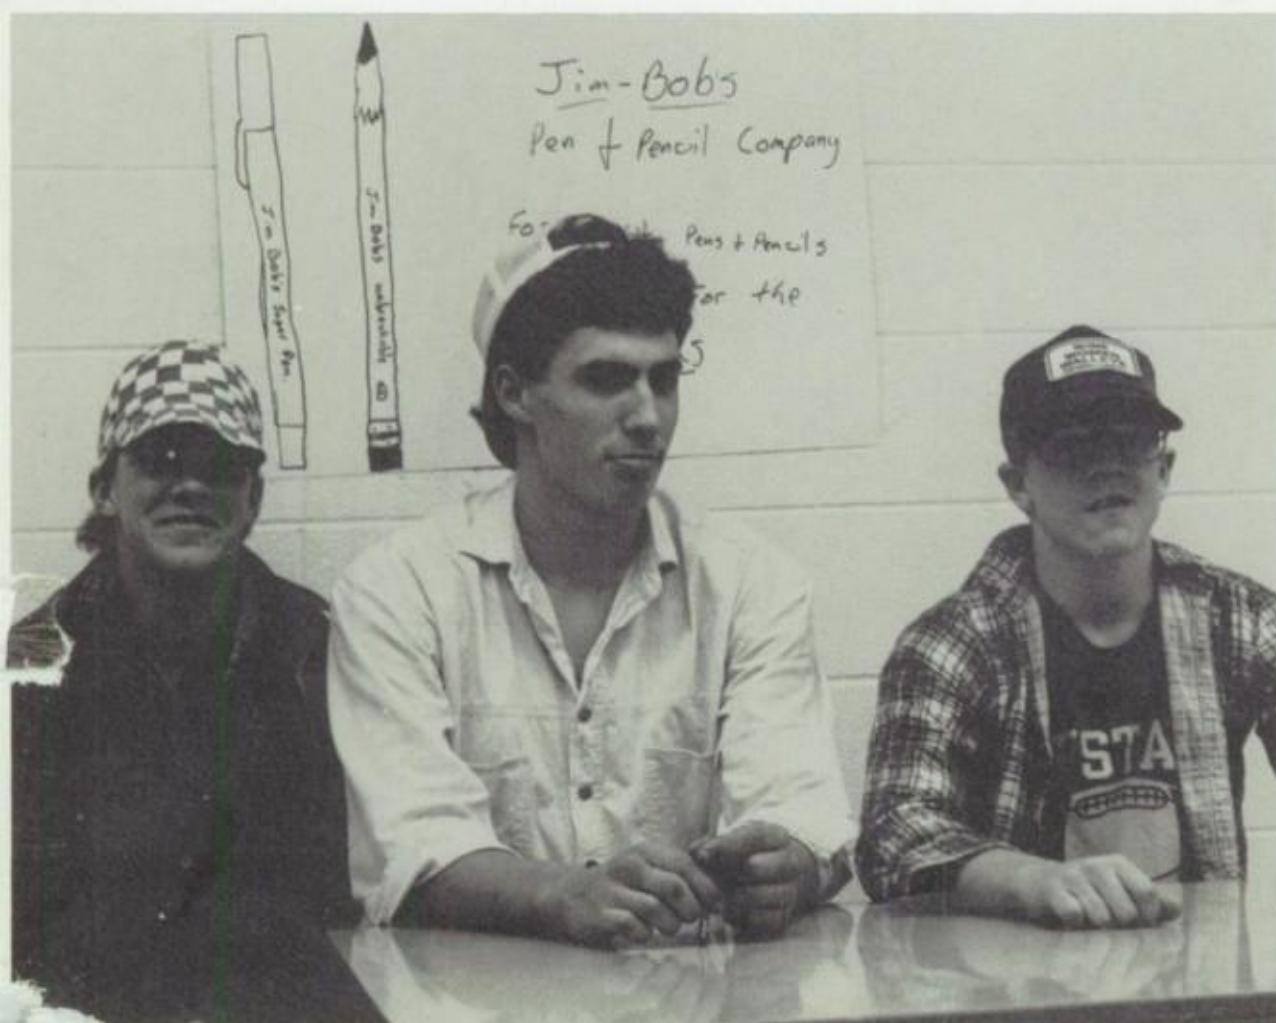

A commercial only lasts sixty seconds, but most students never forget what they performed in their commercial. It seems when that sixty seconds gets recorded on tape that it captures a type of immortality. Students next semester and next year watch what you performed and the moment lives again. Once again you become a star.

It's the very same way with the goofy things we do. People don't crawl under the library tables everyday. In fact they almost never crawl under the library tables. That's what makes it funny when we see it happen.

Doing skits and dressing up is something else we usually remember. Looking like someone else, because we know when people laugh at us they are really laughing at the character we are dressed up as and not at us.

Go ahead; take a double take. Not everything is always what it appears. What may look like fun and games may be a case of serious learning going on.

COMPETITION

The Band Boosters sponsored a Donkey Basketball game in order to raise proceeds for the new band uniforms. The chairmen of the basketball games were Bob and Cheryl Downs.

The crowd found the event extremely entertaining. Bob Downs and Allen Moody were particularly funny dressed up as clowns. They had the awesome responsibility of cleaning up the messes made by some of the four legged players. Their form of clean up included using golf clubs and pool cues.

The company that provided the talented donkeys was called the Buckeye Donkeyball Company from Westville, Ohio.

The donkeys were also capable of playing Donkey Baseball and Softball. This group was one of the eight groups of donkeys that travel all over the United States. Fountain Central was the site of the largest attendance of a donkey game this year.

Four teams participated in the competition. The girls' team consisted of: Kendal Dillon, Gretchen Craft, Stacie Allhands, Kristen Mitchell, Julie Overpeck, Ericka Whittington, Sue Hagar, and Tamera Leitzel.

The "Old Timers" group consisted of: Mr. Simmons, Mr. Spragg, Mr. Lighty, Mr. Foster, Mr. Hesser, and Mr. Grubbs.

The faculty team included: Mr. Sears, Mr. Rash, Mr. Halladay, Mr. Barton, and Mr. Patton.

The senior guys participating were: Ben Nine, Time DePugh, Dan Scott, Terry Runion, Neil Summers, and Jamie York.

Mr. Vile thanked all faculty and staff for their participation and also the crowd and the band boosters for their outstanding support.

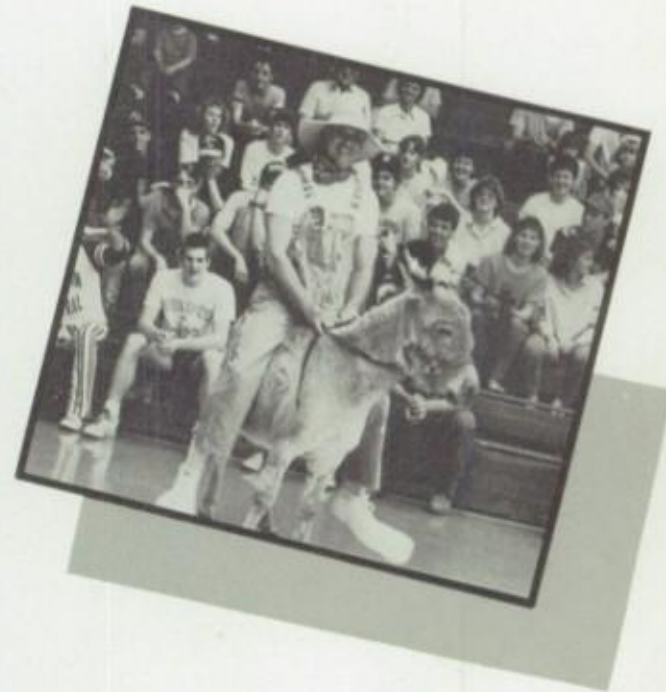

Rob Simmons shows us that he can play basketball under any possible condition.

However, Sue Ann Hager didn't have the same theory; she just wanted her mule to move. Allan Moody on the other hand invented a game all his own.

Bob Downs, along with his wife Cheryl, were in charge of this fund raiser. They did a terrific job in raising money for new band uniforms.

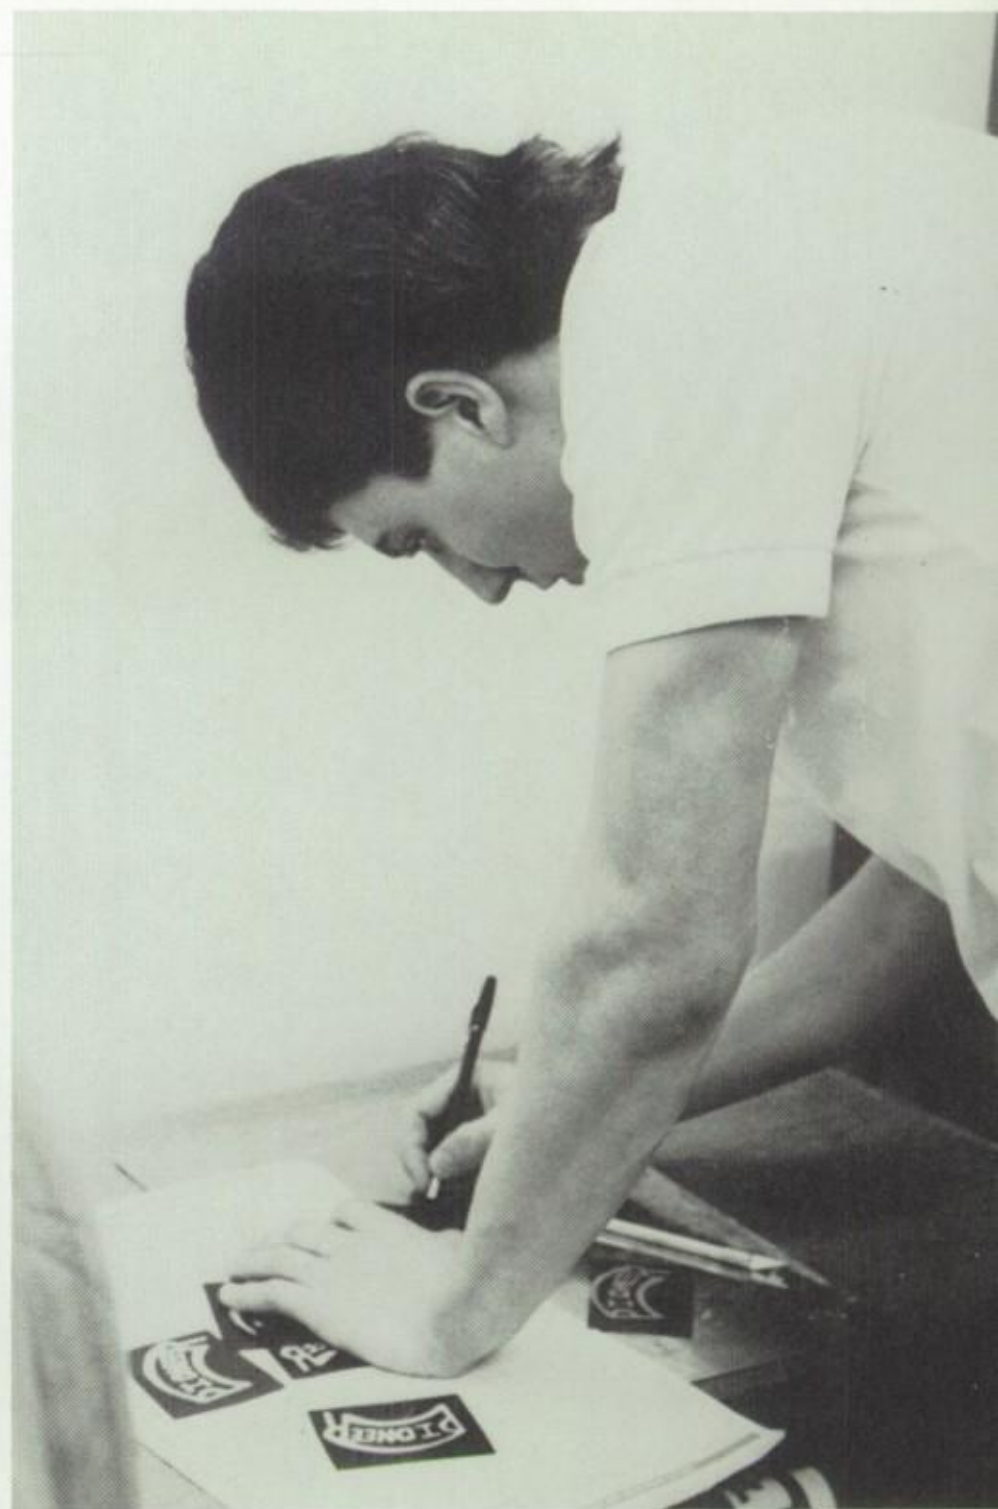

K. Dillon had a donkey who really didn't care about basketball.

9. Nine plays basketball like a football player. Wonder why?

E. Spragg puts the same determination into his graphic arts project as he does in sports.

C. Erwin makes certain the photographer does not pass him by.

Y. Carter makes hitting the books a regular project.

M. Coonse works on a detailed project.

DETERMINATION

Being the best you can be is all that can be asked of a student, but it is the student himself that has to have the determination to be the best he can be. Determination is a key to all success. Without it a student will let homework go unfinished. Many times a favorite television program will have to be missed in order to finish a book report.

Those students who make it to the top of their class don't make it there by watching the Smurfs every night after school. Sometimes they even have to miss some much desired sleep in order to finish what they have to do.

Athletes really know what it means to have to give something a special effort. Most nights they don't get home from school until six o'clock. If they have a meet or a game that night they might not get home until ten. A great deal of will power is required to open a textbook at that late hour. However, the athlete manages to maintain a higher grade point average than the non-athlete. Possibly that is because he has a stronger desire to succeed.

After school the student who has learned to manage his time well is better able to cope with the demands of the work world and family life. In order to keep a good job a person needs to be determined to get to work on time and show up regularly. These traits are learned early and carry over into adulthood.

We have many students who have what it takes to succeed. They know what it is like to get up at three o'clock on a Saturday morning to get to a band contest or to eat dinner late after a

LANGUAGE OPENS DOORS

To shape ideas we need words. No matter what the language, be it English, Spanish or French we take the thought and put it into words. The more words we know, the more precise our ideas can become.

Language classes occupy a major part of a high school curriculum, but when you think about it all classes are about language. We talk and communicate in every class we take. Also, we read. We read textbooks, directions, recipes and a multitude of information every day.

Two clubs at Fountain Central are directly connected to language and they are the French club and the Spanish club. Mrs. Jayne Green is the sponsor of the French club. The major happening of the French club's year was an adventure in fine eating. The members of the club went to Chez Jean in Indianapolis. Instead of a French restaurant the Spanish Club went to Chi-Chi's in Lafayette. Fountain Central had spelling teams again this year. The high school team competed at Lafayette Harrison High School where they finished second. The junior high team finished third in the same tournament.

M. Brown and L. Carlson utilize the power of language.

LOOKS TERRIFIC

"How do I look?"

"Great! Terrific! Wonderful! Where did you get that really super outfit?"

"I made it."

"You're kidding. I wish I could sew."

Mrs. Grimble's goal is that all the girls who go through our school learn to sew. One of the many projects that the students learn to sew is a sweatsuit. We all know what an important garment a sweatsuit is and a person can never have enough. So why not just learn to make one yourself?

Next door to Mrs. Grimble's room in the food lab Mrs. Lewsader is determined that her students will learn to prepare healthy, delicious food. Judging from the delicious smells that come from her room, she must be doing a pretty good job. Many a student knows the agonizing feeling of sitting in class and smelling something wonderful coming from the direction of the foods' lab. Fourth hour everyone wishes they were in foods' class, so they could sample some of the goodies.

Home Economics is a lot more than sewing and cooking. It includes such classes as independent living, interpersonal relations and child development and it's not only for girls.

Quite a few guys are enrolled in these classes and for good reason. In the modern world it's no longer just the responsibility of the lady of the household to do all the chores of daily life. Men, too, have to chip in and do their share in order to keep life going in this double income world.

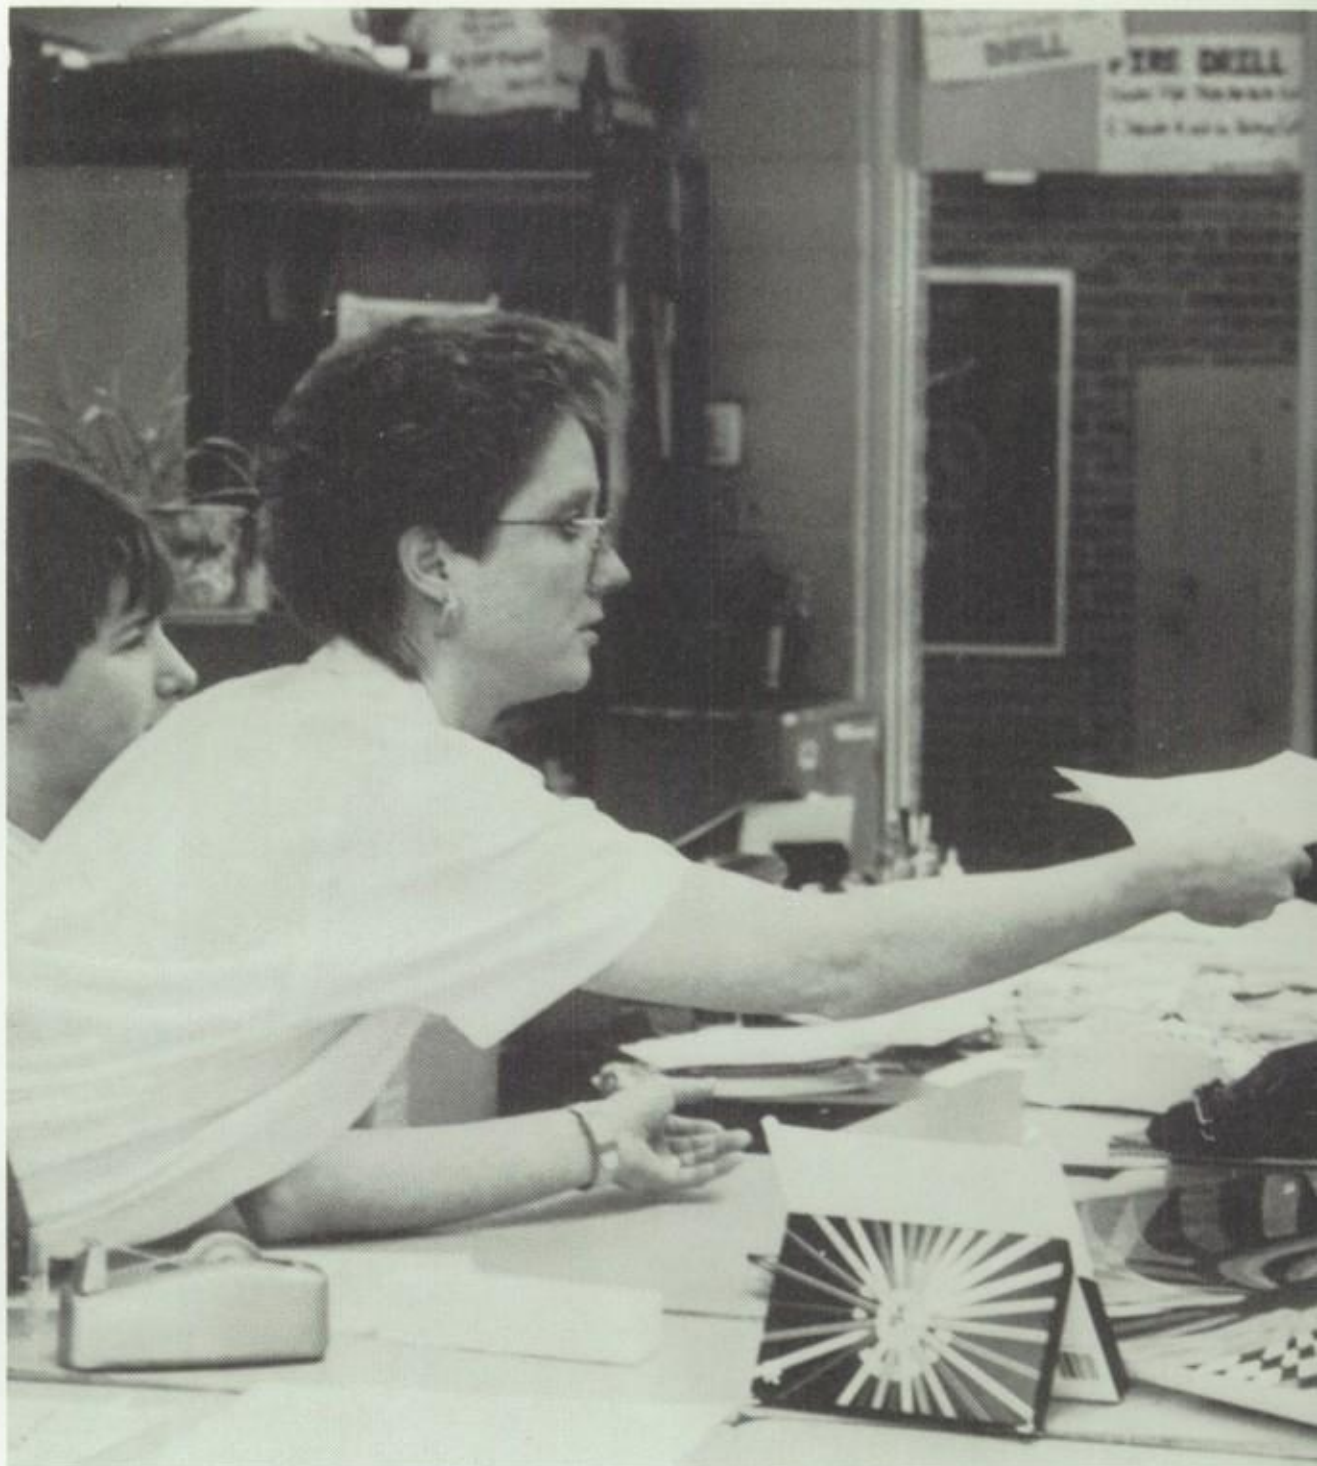

Top: Mrs. Grimble is one of the invited guests at the Thanksgiving dinner prepared by Mrs. Lewsader's advanced foods class. Sitting with her are Brad McKinney and Kristy Brock, who helped prepare the meal. Above: Tina Merryman, also a member of the class, takes her turn going through the line. # O rganization

Whether it's working on Inklings, being in SADD, participating in a club or in class, it all takes planning.

"Inspiration is 99% perspiration." We have all heard this famous quote and oh how true it is. The really terrific things that happen around Fountain Central don't just happen by accident. Behind the scenes a great deal of planning and organization takes place.

The hard work that goes into producing the school's literary magazine is just one example of this concept. It's true that the magazine is filled with examples of creative writing and artwork, but in order for all the different selections to appear in book form a great number of people have to do a great deal of work.

First, all the selections have to be chosen. Then, some type of order has to be established. After decisions are made as to what goes where, each story or poem has to be typed and then every story has to be put on a layout page. The work doesn't stop there. Next, the printers have to print the entire book, put it together and then trim it.

Terrific things don't just happen as you can realize from this example. Organizing a literary magazine is like so many of the things that happen here at school. In order to have a good club, an effective class or publication a great deal of planning, hard work and organization is essential.

If a student learns these concepts well, they will help him to achieve in the everyday work world. Many times the person who gets to work early and is willing to stay late can surpass the budding young genius who feels the world owes him a living. Success does not always come to those who are blessed with a high I.Q. Often, the person who is average or somewhat above average learns that he has to give 100% in order to achieve. Giving that 100% usually brings with it the success that so many of us strive for.

Mrs. Lynette McMahan, chairman of the English department, taught creative writing this year. Each year this particular class is responsible for the publishing of the school's literary magazine called Inklings. Lisa Byers, pictured above, was a member of this class. Lisa was one of the people who had the responsibility of typing the actual manuscript. The class found that with the aid of computers the production of the magazine went much more quickly and uniformly than it had in earlier years.

Welders Win 3rd Team Competition

Some say that the third time is a charm. Indeed it was more than a charm for the vocational welders who competed in the 10th Annual Indiana-Kentucky Welding Classic. The Classic was held at Pleasure Ridge Vocational School in Louisville, Kentucky in March.

The welders took first place honors for the second straight year. Individual winners were: Ray Edmondson from Attica was first in oxyacetylene; Bart Montgomery from Covington was first in Mig; Bart Hilge from Covington was third in tig; John Bussey from Fountain Central was third in theory; Scott Mayes from Fountain Central was sixth in Arc.

Fountain Central received a team score of 196.5 points with Muncie coming close behind with 191.5 Warren Central finished in third with 175 points.

This win was the third team championship in the last four years. Winning the trophy for three times enables Fountain Central to keep the trophy.

O PPORTUNITY

VOLLEYING

The Competitive Way

The 1987 volleyball season meant ups and downs for the Lady Mustangs. Their record for the conference was 6-2 with a final record of 15-8. Coach Bair said of her team, "They were an excellent group to work with for four years of volleyball. It was good to have the senior leadership; at the same time we'll lose a lot".

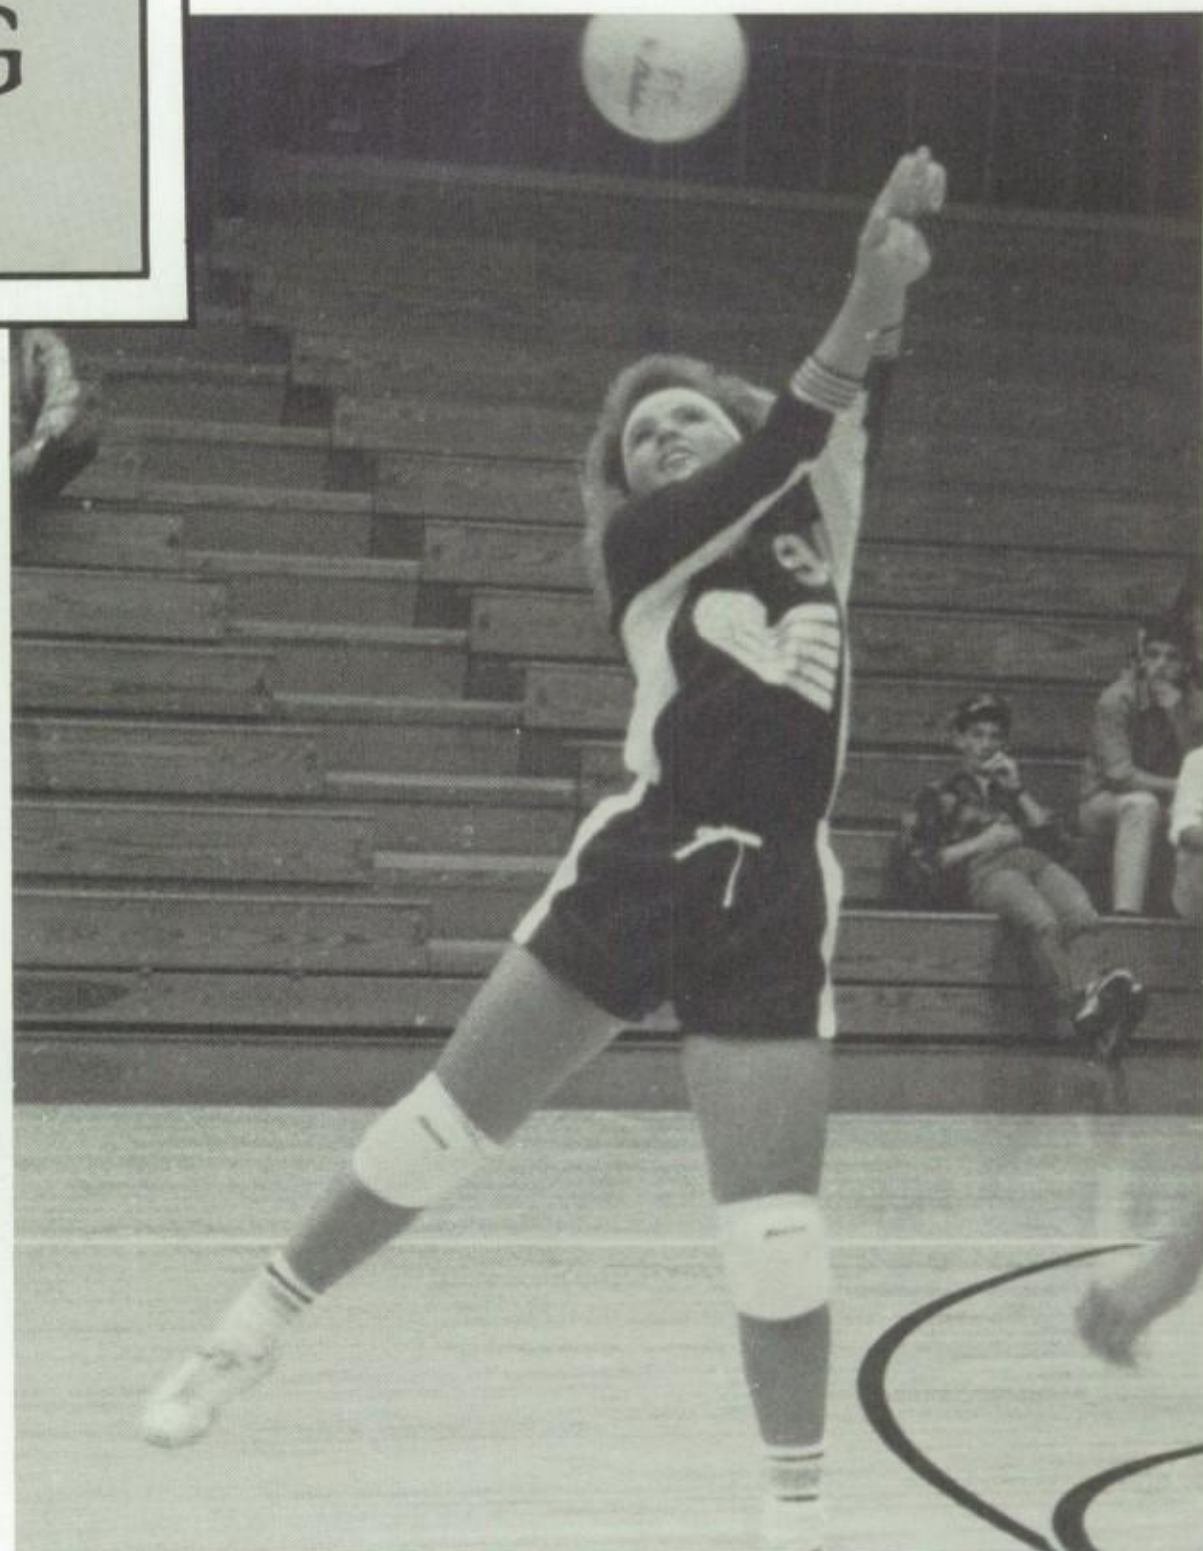

The Lady Mustangs made a good showing in the Attica tournament placing 2nd. The ladies also swept all three Montgomery County schools.

Their record was a bit disappointing because of some of the losses. These losses included Benton Central, Western Boone, North Montgomery, and South Vermillion. Coach Bair said of the season, "I felt our biggest weakness was the lack of a 'killer instinct', but as far as team togetherness, this was probably the best year ever.

Captains for the varsity squad were Trena Lyons and Julie Overpeck.

Tracey Lyons received all-conference honors for the Mustangs.

Several players from this year's team earned individual honors. Trena Lyons led the way in serving percentage for the ladies. She broke the school record by serving 188 out of 194; she also led in passing, spiking and in setting. Stacie Allhands led the way in Aces, with 10. She also led the way in dinks and serve reception. Tracey Lyons led in kills and spike rolls. Raquel Fonner led in blocking. Julie Overpeck led the team in saves with 12.

The Fast Lanes

The girls' swim team finished the season with an outstanding record of twelve wins and four losses. The team accomplished several goals this season, first by winning the Bi-County. They also finished second in the conference and fourth in the sectional, which was their best finish ever. Some individual members also set new school records. They are: Kendal Dillon in the 50 and 100 freestyles; Tammy Bowlus in diving; Carl Duncan in the 500 freestyle, and the freestyle relay team of Kristin Mitchell, Caril Duncan, Stephanie Rice, and Kendal Dillon. Tammy Bowlus also qualified for state competition in diving. She finished 42nd out of 50. As the season concluded, several awards were given out at the sports' banquet. Caril Duncan and Kendal Dillon received the Co-Most Valuable Player award. Joely Donham received the Mental Attitude award and Stephanie Rice received the Most Improved Swimmer award. The seniors of the team compiled a 44-17 record over their four years. Every year their seasonal record seemed to improve along with their spirits.

Shatter Many Records

The Mustang swimmers finished their season with a seven and nine record. During the season many records were broken. Senior, Ryan Lindley, was responsible for shattering many of the records, but he was helped by several of his teammates. Lindley broke the Fountain Central school record in the 50, 100, 200 and 500 freestyles events. The freestyle relay team of Ryan Lindley, Lee Hoagland, Aaron Cunningham and L.D. Pool also broke the school record.

Besides breaking several school records Lindley qualified to compete in the state swim finals. He did this by winning the 50 and 100 freestyle events at the sectional. Lindley's coach, Jerry Taylor said, "Ryan is a very fine athlete and works very hard. He listens well and is a very intelligent swimmer." The only other F.C. male swimmer to compete at the state level was Jay Rice in the 1981-82 season. Rice placed sixth in the IM and ninth in the butterfly in the state competition.

WRESTLING

The Winning Way

An inexperienced wrestling team met a challenge this year and was victorious. For the second year in a row the wrestlers of Fountain Central won the sectional title.

Many of the seniors from last year's winning team graduated and left the squad with only four returning lettermen.

According to Dick McNeely, F.C.'s coach, "the young wrestlers had a difficult time at first, but maintained a good attitude and worked hard; as a result they began to experience some success and made good progress."

The team seemed to enjoy the taste of success, because by the time the WRC tourney came they were ready to compete for the championship.

In the conference meet the team was edged out by Seeger by  $\frac{1}{2}$  point. However, this narrow defeat seemed to make the wrestlers even more hungry for victory the following week in the sectional.

As the coach stated "the Mustang grapplers met the challenge head on and as a result won the sectional."

Richey Named MVP

When the 1984-88 basketball season came to a close the team had compiled six wins, which was an improvement over the past couple years. The Mustangs had one player named to the All Sectional team; he was junior, Travis Richey. Richey was also named to the All Conference team and to the All Bi-County team along with senior, Eric Bowman.

Senior, Jim Rose led the squad in free throw shooting with a seventy-five percent average. Eric Spragg, a sophomore, led the team in field goal percentage with a fifty-five percent. Travis Richey accumulated 135 rebounds to lead the team in that category and sophomore, Coy Overpeck, led the team in assists with 110.

The most exciting game of the season came in the opening round of the sectional when the Mustangs defeated Attica in a double overtime game.

Future's Bright

The Mustang basketball program compiled more total wins this season than any year in the past thirteen years. This figure includes all grades 7-12. Helping greatly to contribute to the amount of wins was the freshman team. The 9th grade squad won the Bi-County, the Conference and its tournament. The team managed to do this in spite of the fact that several of its players were moved up to varsity and junior varsity spots later in the season.

The junior varsity team also won its Bi-County tournament. During the year members of the junior varsity changed as some players were moved up to varsity positions. Yet no matter who was playing for the team the members came together and either won or played the other team close.

The Lady Mustangs' basketball team had a slightly disappointing season. The Ladies' record was 10-9 overall. The team as a whole had hoped to accomplish a great deal more. They were defeated by one point in the Bi-County by a scrappy Seeger team. In Sectional play, Covington overcame the Mustangs to advance into the final game.

The team was led in scoring by senior Tracey Lyons. Tracey broke the Fountain Central girls' basketball record of total points by 720 points. Her career points tallied up to an impressive 1,570 points. Michelle Jeffries had held the record until now with 850 career points.

Trena Lyons is third with a total of 796 points. Tracey also had the highest field goal, free throw, and three point percentages.

When asked about the next season, Coach Halladay said, "It's going to be a lot different coaching next fall because I have had basically the same team for three or four years."

He also said that, "Next year's team will be essentially a brand new Varsity team."

Returning varsity players will be Rachelle Rodgers and Michelle Holt.

Coach Halladay says there is a good chance of having a good team with the help of Rachelle and Michelle and a junior varsity squad that had an impressive record of 15-2.

Tracey Lyons, Trena Lyons, and Julie Overpeck received All Bi-County honors. All-Conference honors went to Tracey and Trena Lyons.

Coach Scifres said that they were a winning team because of the teamwork they displayed on the floor. The team's unity was a great factor for the success of the team's season.

Coach Scifres said of their season, "I went into this season with 2 goals: I wanted the girls to become stronger in the fundamentals of basketball and I wanted them to have fun. I think we accomplished both. This past season was very enjoyable. The girls worked hard and they deserved everything they

Lighty Is MVP

Track is an individual sport and track is a team sport. In some events the athlete has no one but himself to rely upon. In other events several individuals must work together closely in order to win. Then when the entire meet is over, all the scores are added together to see how the school has performed. Therefore, a member of the track team has to have pride in himself and in Fountain Central.

The 1988 team put forth the effort to achieve a winning season. As a group the members performed better than any team in many years. The Mustangs had several individuals qualify for sectional competition. Rick Lighty made the trip to Terre Haute for the second straight year, as did Kenny Priest. Along with these two, Tim DePugh qualified and so did Jim Rose. Also, qualifying for the sectional meet was the relay team that consisted of Jim Rose, David Thomas, Gavin Hallet and Marty Brown.

Senior, Rick Lighty, led the team in individual honors. He earned the 110% award and the Most Valuable Runner award. Rick was also voted by his teammates as the Most Valuable Player. Senior, Tim DePugh, was selected Most Valuable in Field Events. Tim was also senior co-captain and Marty Brown was junior co-captain.

Co-captains for the 1988 girls' track team were Julie Overpeck and Jackie Warrick. Carolyn Downs was named the Most Valuable in running events and Debbie Cork was named the Most Valuable in the field events. Captain Julie Overpeck was selected the Most Improved and Carolyn Downs was designated as having the best Mental Attitude.

Two girls qualified for sectional competition. They were Julie Overpeck in the 300 low hurdles and Debbie Cork in the shot put. Several girls were Bi-County Champions. They were: Debbie Cork in the shot put; Michelle Holt in the discus; Julie Overpeck in the 100/300 hurdles; Carolyn Downs in the 800/1600 run; Amy Ward, Carolyn Downs, Julie Overpeck and J.J. Miller in the 1600 relay.

Coaching both the girls' track team and the boys' track team for the 1988 season were Steve Welchans and Tom Booe. Track meets for both teams were held at the same time.

Probably the most outstanding performance of any Fountain Central track team turned in for the 1988 season was done by the girls' junior high team. They won several trophies for the season and look to have a promising future. They were coached by Rita Harrison and assisted by Kristy Williams.

The Mustang baseball team, despite strong senior leadership, did not have as successful of season as it had anticipated. The team lost several close games due to lack of timely hitting.

The Mustangs did, however, have several players who individually performed well. Eric Bowman and Steve Carver pitched very consistently throughout the year for the Mustangs.

Chuck Brimbury and Eric Bowman led the Mustangs at the plate again this year. "Defensively the team was led by senior first baseman, Chuck Brimbury, and senior outfielder, Sean Zachery," state Coach Stewart.

LOVING IT

In Straight Sets

For the second straight year, the girls' varsity tennis team was undefeated in regular season play, won Bi-County honors, and captured the All-Conference title. The team's season record was a perfect 11-0.

The team, led by six seniors, was coached by Diane Lyons and Nana Peevler due to coach Jerry Taylor's illness. The initials J.T. on the team jerseys signified the dedication of the season to coach Taylor.

Along with the changing of coaches, the ladies were forced to play all matches away due to the disrepair of the F.C. tennis courts, but the ladies took these changes in stride and managed to repeat three of the four honors achieved in 1987, the Sectional title being the only loss.

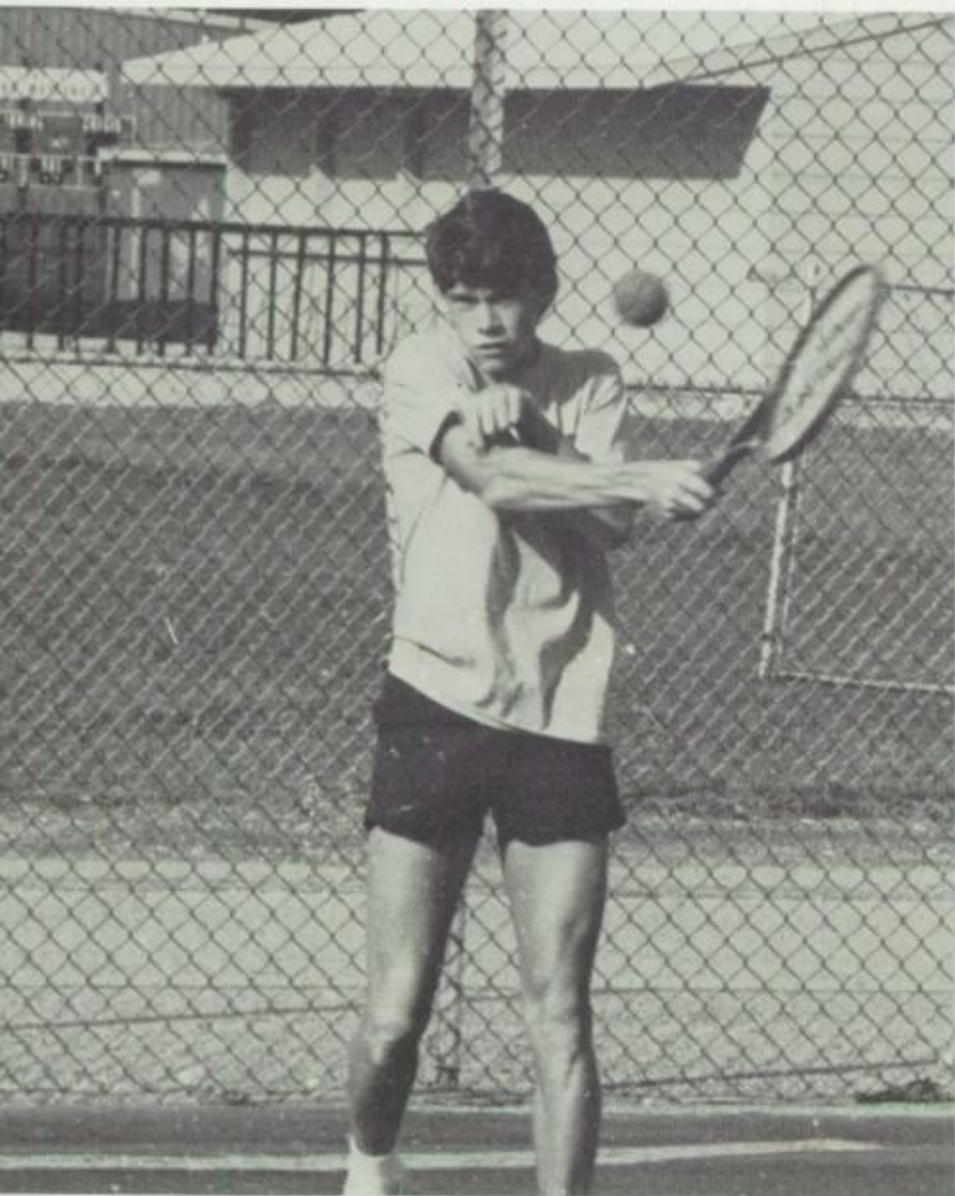

Three players also received individual all-conference honors. Tracey Lyons in #1 singles and the doubles team of Stacie All-hands and Raquel Fonner brought home honors. Tracey also received the right to play at the Regional, by defeating her opponent in the Sectional finals.

Top: Senior, Trena Lyons has played tennis for all four years of high school. Right: Raquel Fonner, also a senior, has been a steady and important contributor to the team's success.

R. Beisecker and B. Walls team up to make a dynamic duo. Both will be back next year.

Overpeck — Most Valuable

The boys' tennis team finished the season with a well-earned eight wins and eleven losses. The young Mustang team advanced to the semi-finals of the sectional before being defeated by Brownsburg 3 to 2. Devon Winters was the only senior to play on this year's team. Because the team will be losing only one player, coach Doug Showalter believes the Mustangs will have a strong and experienced team returning for next season.

The Mustangs had one player advance to regional competition in Terre Haute. He was sophomore Coy Overpeck. Coy led the Mustangs at the number one single's position all season, was named to the all bi-county team and was chosen the Most Valuable Player. Also winning honors was Devon Winters who received the Mental Attitude award. Abe Hetrick was given the 110% award and Travis Richey was named Most Improved.

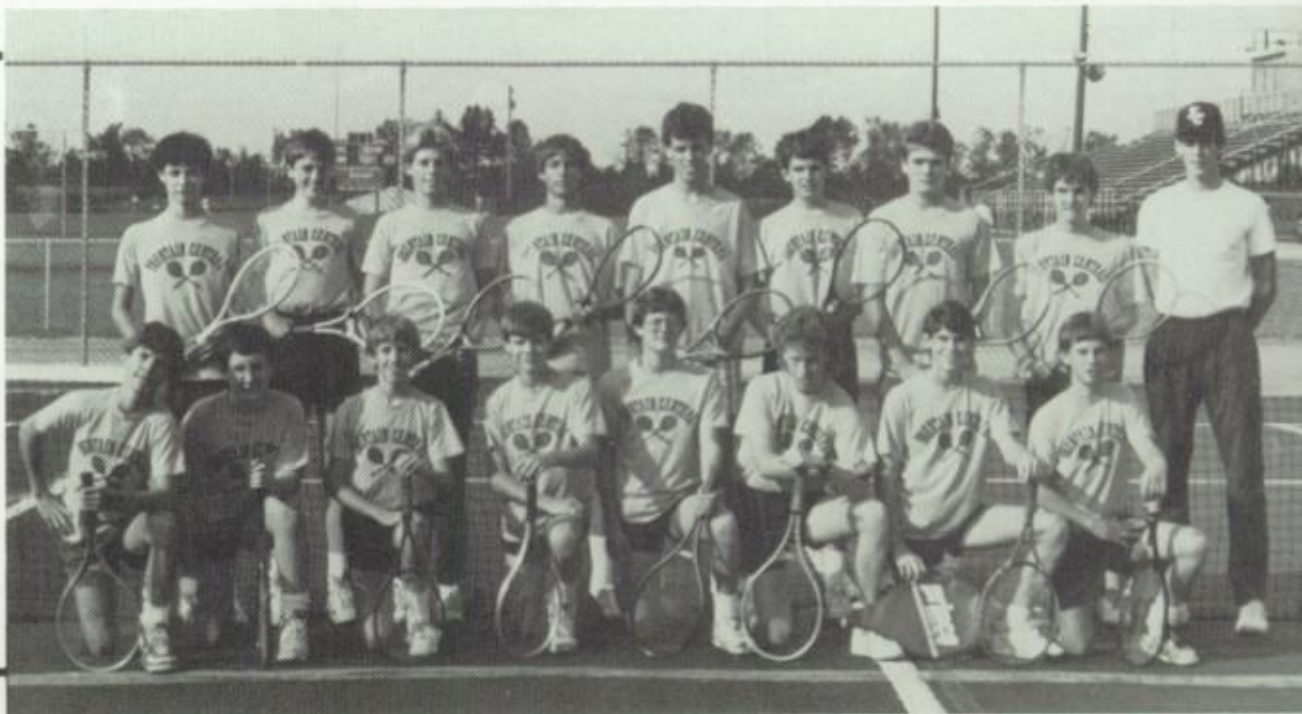

Devon Winters was the only senior on this year's team. His dedication earned him the Mental Attitude award.

Kay Lyons was as outstanding in tennis as all the other sports she played at Mountain Central. Her talent earned her the #1 single's spot.

Great GOLFING

Richey Low Point Man

The 1988 golf team was the team coach John Donovan had been waiting for. The members of the team marked up one accomplishment over another. They started the season with two victories, before they traveled to North Montgomery. After that the year was a string of steady wins. The golfers were first in the Bi-County tournament and then they were first in the Wabash River Conference. In sectional competition the golfers were only one place away from advancing to the regional as a team. One player, however, did earn the right to play in the regional and that was Travis Richey. All year Travis had led the team and his score of 10 allowed him to continue.

Juniors, Dan Foley and Ryan Beisecker have repeatedly turned in low scores for the past two years. With the three juniors on this page and a strong underclassmen team, the future for Mustang golf looks good.

CHEERLEADERS

Ignite Mustang Spirit

Junior Varsity: L. Peevler, K. Dalle, S. Rice, A. Nixon, C. Downs.

JV and Varsity combined at football pep session to perform "The Mustang Crew", a take off of the Brady Bunch.

Throughout the 1987-88 year, the cheerleaders were very busy people. Composed of all seniors, the varsity squad had many different roles and responsibilities to carry out during the year. The varsity led the school through pep sessions and spirit weeks. The organization involved to have these activities was a very demanding project for all cheerleaders. During the summer, the freshmen, junior varsity, and varsity squads traveled to DePauw University for another year of cheer camp where they captured a megaphone for the most spirit. As summer ended and the football season began, cheerleaders of all ages were busy making signs, decorating lockers, practicing, and giving goodies. The junior varsity and varsity rode in a truck that they decorated with all sorts of paraphernalia for Attica's Potawatomi Parade. As the transition from football to basketball took place, cheerleaders were again super-busy making and learning new floor cheers. The locker room and halls were decorated, and skits were invented. The cheerleaders sponsored a competitive spirit week, which was won by the sophomores, during basketball sectionals. College and Nerd day were big hits. As a special bonus, the varsity squad with the help of Kathy McCord (sponsor) and the junior varsity, surprised the players with decorated rooms, signs in their yards, baked goodies, and embroidered pillow cases for good luck in their Sectional Tourney.

For many girls being a cheerleader is something they do for all the years they are in high school and junior high school. During that time period they experience the joys of the teams they cheer for and the disappointments too. This year the freshmen squad got to experience the fun of cheering for a team that only knew how to win. The thrill of getting to cut down the victory nets is one the cheerleaders and the players will remember for the rest of their lives.

Cheerleaders cheer for more than just one team. Many players are football players or basketball players, but cheerleaders cheer for both squads. The hours they devote to their school are often taken for granted. People see them, but usually don't understand the work and dedication they give to F.C. Overall cheering in the 1987-88 season was a great success and hopefully we will see continued spirit and enthusiasm at good ole' Fountain Central.

Varsity: K. Dillon, R. Fonner, G. Craft, B. Kochell, S. Mitchell.

Cheer camp at DePauw University was a great experience for the Mustangs. Gretchen displays the spirit "meg" here.

F.C. cheerleaders love to "CHEER CRAZY"!!!

As a special treat the cheerleaders busily decorated the room's and yard's of the basketball players while they practiced for sectionals. Above is S. Rice with an example.

CENTERSTAGE

The Fountain Central Drama Club, a.k.a. The Centerstage Players, presented two full-length plays during the course of the '87-'88 school year. In mid-November the troupe performed a melodrama entitled The Curse of an Aching Heart in which both throwing things and "booing" the characters was encouraged, all for the sake of audience participation. The play centered upon a friendly family that lived on a fictional farm out west. The owners, known as "Ma" and "Pa", were forced to defend their property from the fiendish dealings of the villain, Windermere Hightower. Of course, in the end of this play, the "good guys" win.

In late April, the Drama Club presented its second and final play of the school year. Bull in a China Shop was a light mystery in which six elderly unmarried ladies commit murders in order to gain the company of the handsome, homicide detective that lives across the street. The plot thickens as a spirited young reporter blackmails the detective into marriage. The play added the color of comedy to the suspense of a good mystery and produced an enjoyable Friday night.

The Drama Club had two sponsors during the year. Mrs. Teresa Ross directed the first play. Then when she went on maternity leave Mrs. Denise Faris became the new sponsor and directed the second play.

Cast — The Curse of the Aching Heart: Row 1 — J. Warrick, S. Ross, K. Derf, K. Hundley. Row 2 — M. Moody, E. Evans, C. Borst, A. Nixon, L. Colson, Y. Carter, J. Inman. Row 3 — D. Foley, J. Hershberger, D. Eacret, E. Starkey, K. Borst.

Crew — Bull In A China Shop: M. Hatch, Mrs. Faris, K. Borst, C. Borst, B. Daniels, J. Roberts, K. Derf, G. Bailey, V. McGrady.

(Left) Queen Nikki Dalle and King Bill Cox are chosen as royalty by all the people in attendance. (Below) At any dance the punch bowl is a popular place. Here we see Terry Runion and Jeff Grubbs taking time out for refreshments.

After many months of hard work the big event finally arrives. Many people have spent many hours in order for everything to look as lovely as it does.

Class sponsors and class officers start the entire process in the fall of the year. After committees are formed, then everyone gets an opportunity to share in the preparations. Sometimes it doesn't seem like all people do their fair share, but that's just the way the committee process works. Yet, somehow the sponsors and the officers make sure all the loose ends come together in order to make everything work.

Funds for the Prom come from working at concessions during the winter sport season. It is the responsibility of each and every junior to work his fair share of time.

Just a few days before prom, the names of the king and queen candidates are announced. Chosen as queen candidates for 1988 were Nikki Dalle, Staci Mitchell, Heather Booe and Julie Overpeck. King candidates were Jim Rose, Ben Nine, Tim DePugh and Bill Cox.

Besides a king and queen Fountain Central also selects princess and prince candidates from the junior class. Nominated for princess were Gwen Calvin, Kerrie Meuser, Stephanie Newnum, and Toni Wilson. Selected as candidates for prince were Dan Foley, Jeremy Link, Tony Linker and Travis Richey.

Colors for the prom were pink and silver.

PROM'S MANY MOMENTS

Prom is not just a dance; it's an event. Getting ready to go to Prom is also an event unto itself. There are just oh so many details to take care of. The process starts early in the day in order to get ready by six o'clock.

"What time should I pick up my tux? Should I pick it up before or after I wash my mom's car? Oh, yes, I can't forget the lowers. Should I put them in the refrigerator to keep them fresh? And I think I'm supposed to pick up another roll of film. Do girls have this many things to remember just to get ready for one night?"

The answer is yes. Girls have just as many details to remember; it's just that they have a different list of items to do.

"How does this eye shadow go on. I hope I don't slip and get my cheeks blue instead of my eyelids. These shoes are beautiful and they match my dress perfectly, but I'm not sure I will be able to walk in them and why do prom dresses have to come without any straps. What will I do if my dress falls off? Oh, no! That's too horrible to even think about. Perhaps if I just don't breathe for the next five hours everything will be okay. Boys have it so easy. They don't have to worry about anything in order to get ready for the prom."

Before a couple can even leave for the dance they have to go through the American ritual of picture taking. After all, parents have only spent a week's salary in order to get ready for this event, so they certainly are not going to let it be forgotten.

"I really think I'm going to be blind. If one more flashbulb goes off in front of my face, I know I will be blind. I won't be able to see to drive. But I have to drive, because we still have to go to three more houses and have our pictures taken. Oh, well, I guess that's the price you have to pay to be a celebrity. "She certainly looks glamorous. I wonder why I really never noticed before what a pretty girl she actually is. Oops! I can't believe I just closed the car door on her dress."

The Prom just doesn't end at midnight. It goes on long into the night. Hardworking parents transform the cafeteria and gym into a cruise atmosphere in order to make the evening last. Upper Left: A. Nixon, G. Calvin, K. Meuser and M. Moody take a ride on the S.S. After Prom. Lower Left: A. Ward and B. Nine check their itinerary to see what they want to do next. Upper Right: S. Rice and T. Ratcliff want to know when the next cruise ship comes in. Lower Left: M. Summers and G. Calvin enjoyed their evening on the S.S. After Prom.

Tracey And Julie Lead The Class

Graduation day comes and two friends lead their classmates into the ceremonies. Tracey Lyons is number one in her class and her teammate and classmate Julie Overpeck is number two.

Neither girl is a stranger to hard work or to competition. Each boasts a long list of accomplishments both in the classroom and out of it. Anyone who knows either Tracey or Julie knows they are both seasoned athletes. Each of them have won the Mustang Award.

When other students turned on the television set or went to the movies Tracey and Julie turned to their books. All their hard work paid off.

They can be very proud of themselves and so can their parents and friends who have been there to support them all the way.

GRADUATION DAY

Graduation day brings with it many types of emotions. Happiness and pride can be found in abundance. School days are over and that can't help but make a student happy. After putting in all those hours in the classroom and passing, a person should have a sense of pride.

"If I am so happy, then why am I fighting back tears? Is it because this really is the last time I am going to see some of these people I have spent the last thirteen years with? Is it because I really am going to have to enter the adult world now?"

Happiness and sadness can both be found on Graduation Day, for it is a very important occasion and deserving of such a strong feeling of emotion.

Above Left: The senior class officers have a special place in the graduation ceremonies and they should have. They put in much hard work during the year to guide their class. The 1988 class officers are: Kendal Dillon, secretary; Julie Overpeck, vice president; Nikki Dalle, treasurer; Judy Roberts, president. Above: Jeff Grubbs and Erica Whittington smile the universal smile of graduates. Left: During graduation practice members of the Class of 1988 learn just what they are suppose to do during the real thing.

Jackie Lynn McKinney
1972-1988

There is a Light where'er I go.
There is a Splendor where I wait.
Though all around be desolate,
Warm on my eyes I feel the glow.

The fight is long, the triumph slow,
Yet shall my soul stand strong and straight;
There is a Light wher'er I go,
There is a Splendor where I wait.
